

We are a group of over 23,000 volunteers around the world, most of whom are IT professionals and specialists in various areas. We came together in response to disasters and humanitarian crises, with the aim of using our skills and knowledge to make a positive impact on the world. Our team is made up of individuals who are passionate about making a difference, and we work together to develop innovative solutions that can help those in need.

At AYA, we believe in the power of open-source technology and the value of collaboration. We are proud to have established a strong community on GitHub, where our members can share their expertise, collaborate on projects, and contribute to our mission of helping others. We also use Discord to communicate and organize our efforts, as it allows us to work together in real-time and stay connected even when we're in different parts of the world.

If you're interested in learning more about AYA or getting involved with our projects, we invite you to join our community on GitHub and Discord. We welcome volunteers from all backgrounds and skill levels, and there are many ways to contribute to our mission. Whether you're an experienced programmer or just starting out, we believe that everyone has something valuable to offer. By working together and using technology for good, we can make a difference in the world and help those who need it most.
